

WORKERS PARTY ^{GB}

Support the Tower Hamlets strikers!

The Workers Party of Britain denounces Tower Hamlets Labour council for its attempt to sack all 4,000 of its workers and rehire only those who are prepared to accept a vastly inferior contract, laughably dubbed "Tower Rewards".

The new contract, as well as imposing cuts on things like travel allowances and out-of-hours pay, also includes drastic cuts to severance pay, kicking open the door to cut-rate redundancies a little further down the line.

The Labour council has been trying over the past year and a half to cram this rubbish new contract down workers' throats.

Workers have been eager to resist and were to have been called out on strike on 24 March this year. Sadly Unison pulled the strike at the last moment, believing a promise from management that the question of the new contract would be shelved until the covid crisis was over.

Once the strike was called off and the momentum was lost, however, the council promptly changed its tune and announced that the inferior contracts would be unilaterally imposed on 6 July.

Council workers, who include in their ranks social workers, children's services workers, environmental health workers, benefits office workers and other key workers whose services to the community during the health emergency are vital, are fed up with the shabby treatment they are getting from this Labour council and this time are striking for real.

Workers are striking on dates throughout July. It is in the publics interest to support these workers defending their jobs.

The Workers Party of Britain salutes the strikers and in particular Hamlets bin men in refusing to cross picket lines.

workerspartybritain.org
workerspartygb
info@workerspartybritain.org

For more info or to join Workers Party of Britain
SUBSCRIPTION RATE minimum £1 per week

WORKERS PARTY ^{GB}

Support the Tower Hamlets strikers!

The Workers Party of Britain denounces Tower Hamlets Labour council for its attempt to sack all 4,000 of its workers and rehire only those who are prepared to accept a vastly inferior contract, laughably dubbed "Tower Rewards".

The new contract, as well as imposing cuts on things like travel allowances and out-of-hours pay, also includes drastic cuts to severance pay, kicking open the door to cut-rate redundancies a little further down the line.

The Labour council has been trying over the past year and a half to cram this rubbish new contract down workers' throats.

Workers have been eager to resist and were to have been called out on strike on 24 March this year. Sadly Unison pulled the strike at the last moment, believing a promise from management that the question of the new contract would be shelved until the covid crisis was over.

Once the strike was called off and the momentum was lost, however, the council promptly changed its tune and announced that the inferior contracts would be unilaterally imposed on 6 July.

Council workers, who include in their ranks social workers, children's services workers, environmental health workers, benefits office workers and other key workers whose services to the community during the health emergency are vital, are fed up with the shabby treatment they are getting from this Labour council and this time are striking for real.

Workers are striking on dates throughout July. It is in the publics interest to support these workers defending their jobs.

The Workers Party of Britain salutes the strikers and in particular Hamlets bin men in refusing to cross picket lines.

workerspartybritain.org
workerspartygb
info@workerspartybritain.org

For more info or to join Workers Party of Britain
SUBSCRIPTION RATE minimum £1 per week

